V10.6 End Of Support Notice

On April 4th 2019 RSA reminded customers about the upcoming End of Primary Support date for RSA NetWitness Platform version 10.6. Customers who are still running v10.6.x or lower will need to upgrade to version 11 by October 2019 to remain on a supported version of the platform. We encourage all customers to begin planning their upgrade right away to ensure a smooth transition while upgrading. ~400 customers have already upgraded to v11.x. Many of these customers upgraded on their own, but if assistance is requested we have services teams from support and professional services who are ready to help.

2019 RSA Charge Registration is Open!

RSA Charge 2019 is being held in Orlando, Florida on September 16-19. Registration is now open!

GA of RSA NetWitness Version 11.3

With the recent release of RSA NetWitness 11.3 – there has never been a better time to upgrade! This latest version fully integrates RSA’s Endpoint Detection and Response technology, RSA NetWitness Endpoint, with the rest of the platform. This release also includes new machine learning models based on deep endpoint process data to rapidly detect anomalies in a user’s behavior. v11.3 also provides RSA SecurID Access + RSA NetWitness customers with visibility and insight into suspicious user activity across your environment to drive more informed authentication decisions. Check out the updated 11 Reasons to Love RSA NetWitness Platform 11.x for more information.

Operationalizing Incident Response Workshop

RSA recently offered a special, virtual version of this in-person event. During the webinar, Shane Harsh describes a business-driven security framework for the fundamentals of operational threat hunting and incident response. This will enable your organization to understand the essential elements required to build an effective, repeatable, and cross-functional IR plan. Shane also shared knowledge of operational best practices to successfully identify, contain, eradicate, and recover from cybersecurity incidents. You can watch the replay here.

Help Support Resolve Your Case Faster

When opening a support ticket for an issue, please be sure to provide as much information as you possibly can. Providing this information up front will greatly speed up the resolution of your case. You'll want to provide specific error messages, log files, screenshots, detailed descriptions, your current version, etc. The more you share up front the faster your support engineer can get to work troubleshooting your issue.
